Procedure for Restraining a Child

In the event of us having to physically restrain a child we would:

- Only do so if a child was likely to harm themselves or another child
- Handle them in an appropriate manner and not in any way that could harm the child
- Try to have another member of staff present but if that was not possible we would inform another member of staff as soon as possible
- Record the incident in our Incident Book
- Inform the parents at the end of the session and ask them to sign the Incident Book
